SYNERGY ENTERPRISES ANNOUNCES SALE OF AMERTAC TO OWNER OF JACKSON DEERFIELD MFG. CORP.

- Transaction Reflects Strong Results of Synergy's Turnaround Plan for AmerTac in Less Than One Year -

- Sal Mirra to Continue in Role as President of AmerTac -

Saddle River, NJ – June 2 , 2010 – Synergy Enterprises, LLC (“Synergy”), a private investment and management advisory services firm, today announced the sale of Saddle River, NJ-based AmerTac, a leading designer, marketer and distributor of innovative and trend-right electrical, decorative and under cabinet lighting, decorative and functional hardware and lawn and garden products. Under the terms of the transaction, AmerTac has been sold to the owner of Dallas-based Jackson Deerfield Mfg. Corp., a domestic manufacturer and distributor of decorative wallplates. Financial terms of the transaction, which was completed today, were not disclosed.

Gary Nacht, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Synergy Enterprises, said “This transaction reflects the resounding success of our turnaround plan for AmerTac, which we acquired just over one year ago. Since our purchase of the Company, and under the strong leadership of its President, Sal Mirra and his management team, AmerTac achieved substantial sales growth through a combination of new product introductions, new customer acquisition and new channels of distribution, in addition to solid growth within its core customer base, all during a challenging retail environment. At the same time, we are pleased with the results of our hard work in increasing profitability, streamlining the operations of AmerTac’s domestic and international offices and ‘going green.’ Although this transaction occurred much sooner than we originally anticipated, selling this turnaround success story to a well-positioned strategic buyer is exactly what Synergy does best.”

AmerTac’s Chief Executive Officer, Sal Mirra, will continue in his role and the core of the AmerTac executive management team will remain unchanged. For the near-term, both companies will operate independently but will explore advantages now available with domestic manufacturing and broader market knowledge.
